SETTLED BY THE DICTIONARY

Miss Pipkins Had to Consult It Before She Yielded to Augustus Hopper's Suit.

Augustus Hopper laid his heart at the feet of the wealthy, though uneducated, Miss Pipkins, and pleaded his passion with a wealth of oratory worthy of a cabinet minister or a racecourse tipster.

"My queen! my evening star!" he cried, striking an attitude of supplication. "Will you be mine? For months I have worshiped you with a deep devotion. I have loved you better than life. I have treasured every syllable that has fallen from your ruby lips. Now I can remain silent no longer, and I declare my passion in the earnest hope that my ardent affection meets with reciprocity and ratification. What is your answer, adored one?"

"One moment, Mr. Hopper," replied Miss Pipkins, as she crossed over to the bookshelf; "first let me consult my oracle."

And she reached down the dictionary and looked up the meaning of "reciprocity" and "ratification."

"Gustus, I am yours!" she declared a moment later, snuggling to his third waistcoat button.

TRAGEDY OF SWITCHBOARD

Atlantic City Operator Telephone Physician That She Has Been Stricken Blind.

Not until they heard a fellow-worker ask her family physician at the telephone to come to her aid the other day did several other young women operators in the telephone exchange at Atlantic City learn that she had been stricken blind when seated alongside them. "I've gone blind, doctor; won't you come to me? This is Miss Hiltner," one of the other operators heard her companion say. The girl had been unable to see for several minutes, and when she realized the extent of her affliction "plugged in" on the switchboard in front of which she had been working and established a connection with the home of the family doctor. As she disconnected the plugs after communicating with the latter, the young woman stood up and tried to walk across the room. She fell fainting. Several other operators ran to her assistance. She was revived, but refused to be taken to a hospital and insisted upon returning to her home so she might be there when the physician arrived.

POPULAR CINEMATOGRAPH.

From the tropical jungle to the Arctic circle, from California to the southern cotton fields, from naval combat to military warfare, the educational value of the higher class cinematograph production is as incalculable as is the degrading effect of the vulgar shows. But fortunately for the future of the moving picture, statistics prove that among the most popular have been the productions of "The Fall of Troy," "Macbeth," "Tasso's Jerusalem," "Rob Roy," Dickens' "Christmas Carol," etc. One of the most daring of all cinematographic exploits was achieved by the photographer who placed his machine on the verge of a flaming crater and gave to the world the "Eruption of Mount Etna," a more vivid impression than could be obtained from any textbook.—Exchange.

OLD-TIME BREAKFASTS.

"Breakfast has of late years fallen into disrepute. The breakfast rooms of Victorian politicians were the scenes of many a delightful orgy. The table resounded with the merry clink of sardine tins, and, as they relieved the groaning sideboard of its burden of ham and compressed veal, the wits and gallants of the period vied with one another in jokes about Pygmalion and Galatea which their biographers have deemed worthy of immortality. Statesman pledged statesman in the flowing coffee bowl, and the most popular toast of the day was buttered."—"The Perfect Gentleman," by Harry Graham.

ONLY IN EFFECT.

HELPED THAT MUCH, ANYHOW.

"I have a book here that I think you would find extremely useful. If you will kindly give me about three minutes of your time I will briefly set forth its salient points."

"What kind of a book is it?"

"It is fully described by its title, 'How to Succeed in Business.' You will find in it many valuable suggestions and—"

"Here's 50 cents. Go and get a clean collar and shave. If there's anything left you might buy yourself a sandwich."

GENIUS.

"Who is the proud looking man—the one who is about to get into his $8,000 automobile?"

"That is Mr. Puffington. He is one of our richest men. He made $10,000,000 manufacturing sausage casings."

"Indeed! And who is the poorly clad humble-looking individual to whom he seems to be giving orders?"

"That is Algernon Gravenhurst the epic poet. He is now eking out a miserable existence by writing rhymed advertisements of Mr. Puffington's product."

ONE BETTER.

Englishman—You Americans like nothing better than a nine days' wonder.

American—Oh, yes we do.

Englishman—What?

American—A nine-inning wonder, for instance.—Puck.

EXCUSES.

"Dear, I'm very sorry you found your razor dulled, but the truth is—"

"Oh, I know what the truth is. Only don't try to make me believe the baby took it to cut his tooth with."

THEY BELONG TO THE DOG.

"I see a New Jersey man is said to have a wonderful collection of fleas."

Egbert—Well at that he hasn't got anything on my dog.

HEARD AT THE BEACH.

Mr. Dubb—Often when I look up at the stars in the firmament I cannot help thinking how small, how insignificant I am.

Miss Keen—Indeed! And is it only then that that thought strikes you, Mr. Dubb?—Boston Evening Transcript.

NO SINECURE.

"What are the principal activities of the official position our friend occupies?"

"Those involved in holding on to it," replied Senator Sorghum.

THE FLY AND THE PIPE.

"Yes, we have our own special fly trap at home."

"What is it like?"

"A currant pie."—Cleveland Plain Dealer.

PLENTY OF FLIES.

Boston is to have the first church in America with a roof garden, to be used as a children's playground during the day and for open air services on warm evenings.

It will be the new Clarendon Baptist church, badly burned last winter. The trustees have decided to build an up-to-date structure, omitting a steeple. Motion pictures will be used to aid Bible study.

HAD HAD EXPERIENCE.

"When a person wants to give you a thing you don't have to beg for it."

"Oh, I don't know about that."

"You ought to, I just told you."

"Did you ever beg a girl for a kiss?"

"No, sir. If it was the right girl I took one, and if it was the wrong girl there was no use begging."

OUR CONTEST.

For the first time in the history of Magoffin County, we are going to have a news paper contest for a Magoffin County news paper. The aim of this contest is to help roll up a big subscription for Magoffin County's paper.

The Mountaineer is now 38 weeks old and all know how we stand on county affairs, churches, schools, and other institutions for our people.

If we deserve any credit for what we have done you should help us to make this a great contest. We are not giving any great prizes, but every one knows the exact value of each prize in any market in the land.

We see no reason why Magoffin cannot have an interesting contest as well as some of our neighbor counties. Join this contest and ask your neighbor to subscribe for the Mountaineer and vote for some one in the Contest. Watch

it. It will be interesting to young and old.

Our force is now increased and we will print more home news than we have been.

RIDING THE SEVILLE BELLS

Primitive and Daring Way in Which
Those of the Giralda Are Rung.

In ordinary circumstances bell ringing is a peaceful occupation to which white-haired, venerable men seem ideally suited. But the men who ring the bells in the famous Giralda of Seville must be young men of unusual agility and steadiness of nerve.

When the city is to make merry on feast days the ringers climb to the belfry, and then, by the aid of a rope and steps cut in the wall of the tower, each mounts to the bell he is to ring and stands astride its brazen shoulders. Then he presses the bell with his feet, holding on to the cross-piece to which it is swung.

Gradually the great bell swings
to the movement of the man astride it until it acquires a momentum in that swings the hammer, first gently, and then with increasing force, as the sweep of the bell widens, until the air is trembling from the blows that strike the massive sides.

The riders bend and rise and fall with the action of the bells, now appearing to the observer from below to be in a horizontal position as the bell reaches the limits of its swing, and again riding gracefully to an upright position as the monster sways backward with another thundering note.

The most extraordinary part of the daring performance is the sight of the bell-ringer calmly awaying
the bell while it hangs far out of the belfry over the city, far the outward swing sends the counterpoise with the ringer into space beyond the arch.—Youth's Companion.

SIMPLE WEDDING IN FAVOR

Quieter Ceremonies and Gatherings Are Much More Common Than
Has Been the Rule.

The quiet wedding seems to be far more usual now. No longer is it considered an alarming symptom of eccentricity to be married without bridesmaids, best man, a church-ful of spectators, red carpet, cabs, buttonholed cabbies flourishing beribboned whips, old jokes in the vestry weakened with tears, rice, volley of flowers, old boots and shoes and slippers, a parade of presents, breakfast, frock coat, orange blossom, satin, and so on.

Man has always quailed before such a catalogue, but woman appears to have rebelled in it, but the general fashion for simplicity involves the simple wedding. The red carpet is following the seven-course dinner and bridesmaids are joining the other ghosts of the past.

There are still, of course, many elaborate weddings, but they are not by any means so usual as they used to be—particularly among the middle classes. Even at the most "fashionable" churches the number of weddings increases steadily.
The typical wedding of the day is a little gathering of relatives.

GREAT SOUTHERN PROJECTS.

Projects to harness the streams of the south exceed in magnitude any similar enterprises in the world.
New companies have been formed,
with capital aggregating $25,000,- 000 whose plans look to the ultimate development of over 1,500,- 000 horsepower. Financial interests in London, New York and Pittsburg control most of the sites for the development of water power. With southern streams turning the wheels of mills, running trains, and lighting cities, the south may in time wrest the industrial supremacy of the country from the east.

THE ORIENTAL DANCER.

Charles Frohman, at a dinner at the Metropolitan club in New York, condemned a certain outrageously immodest Oriental dancer. "She must have a nasty mind," Mr. Frohman said, "to dance like that." "Oh, don't be too hard on her," said a playwright. "She may not understand, you know. Consider how young she is." "I deny," said Mr.
Frohman, "that she's as young as you imply; but I'm bound to admit that, even though not young, she's certainly a stripling."

UNLUCKY NUMBER.

The Visitor—Why are you here,
my misguided friend?
The Prisoner—I'm the victim of the unlucky number 13.
The Visitor—Indeed; how's that?
The Prisoner—Twelve jurors and one judge.—Sporting Times.

COD INDUSTRY IS GROWING

Newfoundland Has Wonderful Asset
and Will Be Great Fish Depot
of World.

The cod is probably the most prolific of all sea fish, though its habitat does not extend over as large an area as other species, says the Wide World. The cod is only found in northern waters, and will live and thrive only in certain temperatures.
Some day, owing to the wonderful asset which Newfoundland possesses in her cod fishery, she is destined to be the great fish depot of the world.
It is not alone on the great "banks,"
many miles off her coast, that cod are found in countless millions, but around the whole island—on the "ledges" and "grounds" off the capes and promontories that jut into the Atlantic, as well as on the Labrador coast, for a stretch of 1,000 miles. In these regions you require no hatcheries to add the wonderful fecundity of nature; indeed, it is doubtful if you require any laws or regulations to protect these fisheries unless it be in the shoal waters of the bay.

Notwithstanding that for 300
years the fisheries of these waters have been prosecuted by rival fishermen of two hemispheres, the large-est catch of cod ever taken on the Newfoundland and Labrador coasts was that secured in 1909, the yield being estimated in weight at 1,800,- 000 quintals, or 201,000,000 pounds; to which may be added 200,000 quintals—the quantity locally consumed in Newfoundland
during and after the fishing season.
The value of the fish alone, without any regard to the by-products—oil, roes, skin, offal, etc.—is $10,000,- 000.

HOW FAST THE HORSE WENT

"Lickity Split" Said the Boy Witness,
and the Judge and Jury Understood.

In the Superior civil court a little chap was giving testimony in a case where an express team is alleged to have knocked down and injured a boy acquaintance of the witness. The little chap on the witness stand was asked how fast the team was going when he first noticed it. He seemed a bit puzzled, and the attorney suggested a horse and a fire engine as examples of comparison. The boy said it was not going as fast as a fire engine and faster than a horse.

The attorney ventured again to have the witness state in his opinion just how fast the team was going.

"It was going 'lickity split,'" said
the youngster.

From the expression upon the faces of the judge and the members of the jury it was evident that they understood the answer of the witness thoroughly.—Boston Journal.

CRUEL REALISM.

John G. Johnson, the famous lawyer and no less famous art expert, was talking, at a dinner in Philadelphia, about some of Sargent's cruelly realistic portraits. "Sargent
once painted a Philadelphia woman," Mr. Johnson said, "and when the work was finished, the lady's coachman called for it. As the coachman was studying the portrait, Sargent said to him: 'How do you like it?' The man answered thoughtfully: 'Well, sir, ye might have made it a little better-lookin', mebbe; but if ye had, ye'd have spoilt
it.'"

HELPED HIM ALONG.

"How did he manage to escape from the penitentiary? I thought it was well nigh impossible."

"Well, he figured it out on scientific lines. Somebody smuggled him a pair of trunks, and after he got outside everybody thought he was running a Marathon."

DELIGHTFUL PROSPECT.

"Do you," said the counsel,
"swear that you will tell the truth,
the whole truth and—"

"Oh, how lovely!" the fair witness interrupted. "Shall I be allowed to talk all the afternoon if I want to?"—Stray Stories.

COURTING DANGER.

"Who is that fellow who just now called one of our noble policemen a gendarme?"

"Why, that's a traveled person
from abroad."

"Well, he'd better be careful. One of our fattest cops may resent the imputation."

JUDGE A. J. KIRK.
All Parties Are For Judge Kirk.

SO SAY WE ALL OF US.
[Lexington Leader.]

The Louisville Evening Post offers a suggestion which The Leader gladly indorses. It is that all parties unite in supporting Circuit Judge A. J. Kirk for the vacancy on the Court of Appeals bench caused by the resignation of Judge E. C. O'Rear, which was filled temporarily by the appointment of Mr. Robert H. Winn by Governor Wilson.

Judge Kirk is an ideal selection and is sure of nomination and election no matter what happens in Kentucky or the Nation, but his indorsement by all parties would have a good effect. The Post says on this subject:

"The retirement of all other candidates makes certain the nomination by the Republican party of Judge Andrew J. Kirk, of Johnson County, for the vacancy upon the Kentucky Court of Appeals caused by the retirement of Judge R. H. Winn in November. Mr. Kirk is now a Circuit Judge and one of the best in Kentucky. The district is so overwhelmingly Republican that even in this year of certain Republican disaster the Republican nominee should win easily. Moreover, Judge Kirk is of the material out of which Appellate Judges are made. The Democratic party will do a graceful act in not contesting the election, and Wilson, Taft and Roosevelt men can all unite in the promotion of this Judge."

"So say we all of us." We believe the Leader and Post express the sentiment of practically the entire district and that suggestions offered will be acted upon by the voters of the district.

The implicit confidence that many people have in Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy is founded on their experience in the use of that remedy and their knowledge of the many remarkable cures of colic, diarrhoea and dysentery that it has effected. For sale at Dr. Kashes Drug Store.

"Animated Newspaper" of French Moving Picture Shows Are Popular With the Patrons.

The "animated newspaper" issued by a French firm for display in moving picture establishments is said to be the most costly newspaper issued, from the standpoint of the producer, as one of these reels costs many dollars. These films are very popular with a certain class of patrons of the "movies." They are edited in much the same manner as the typical newspaper. A corps of operators is kept in constant touch with many sources of news. As soon as a promising tip reaches him, the editor sends one, two or as many men as he thinks necessary for the purpose. Frequently the three films are patched together to make one complete reel. Correspondents are maintained at different points, and these are assigned by telegraph to go to certain points where their services may be needed. Mine explosions and railroad accidents are regarded as particularly attractive features, and men are sent at once to these whenever they are reasonably accessible. Pictures of the debris and the work of removal are always objects of interest to patrons of the "movies."

NO DANGER IN MOUTHPIECES

Investigation Shows Communication of Tuberculosis by Use of Telephone Is Unlikely.

An investigation made in England to determine the possibility of the communication of tuberculosis through the use of telephones seems to show that such infection is practically impossible. The experiments were ordered by the postmaster general, who appointed Dr. H. Spitta of St. George's hospital, London, and bacteriologist to the king, to make the experiments.

A number of telephones, which had been in use in busy London offices for various periods, and had received no cleansing treatment other than that normally given such phones, were first tested. Washings were prepared from the mouthpieces and tests were made by the inoculation of guinea-pigs to ascertain whether tubercle bacilli were present. The mouthpieces were shown to be free from these bacilli. —Popular Mechanics.

TOO MUCH FOR THEM.

A northern man made a visit to the plantation of a southern colonel and was almost devoured the first night by mosquitoes. The next morning the northern man asked the colored butler about the mosquito plague. "Don't the mosquitoes bother the colonel?" he asked.

"Not much, sah," the butler replied. "The fact part of the night the colonel am too drunk to feel mosquitoes, and the last part of the night they is too drunk to bother him."

MAKING ROOM.

Discussing the universal condemnation heaped upon Bruce Ismay and the White Star line over the Titanic disaster, a sea captain said in New York: "Bruce Ismay must now be remembering a speech he once made in Belfast, a speech about persecution, ending with the words: 'When a man's down his enemies stop kicking him—to let his friends begin.'"

EXCITEMENT.

Husband (cheerily)—Well, love, have you had a pleasant day?
Wife—Oh, splendid! After I dressed the children and got them off, washed the dishes and made some pies, cleared away the luncheon table and answered some letters, I still had time enough left to darn my stockings.—Harper's Bazar.

SIMPLE LIFE ALL "MOONSHINE."

"I stopped over here," said the tourist, "to enjoy the simple life." "Hush," warned the Georgia moonshiner, "not so loud. Put your money on the stump yonder, an' turn yo' back an' shut yo' eyes. Quart or gallon, sir?"

A TALL ONE.

"Talking about tall girls, there was one passed our shop the other day," says the Herington Sun, "who was so tall that she stuck out two feet below her skirts. Why, she was so tall she couldn't walk under her own umbrella without bending."

BRAZIL IS FULL OF GAME

Animals, Birds and Fish of Every Description Abound in Its Woods and Rivers.

"For the man who loves to hunt and fish Brazil is a paradise," continued Dr. G. H. H. "I do not suppose there is a part of the world where game is more plentiful or that can be hunted under more satisfactory conditions than in the state of Minas Geraes, say a couple of hundred miles to the north of Rio Janeiro. The prairies and woods teem with animals and birds of every description. There are tigers and water hogs and wild hogs and funny little red deer about the size of a goat, and tall red wolves with long but very slender bodies. There are magnificent birds known as the perdia and the colorna, which greatly resemble our quail, only a great deal bigger, with the same flavor and the same delicious white meat. Dogs are used in hunting them, just as we use them in quail shooting in this country.

"Then there are scores of other feathered creatures unlike any specimens we have here, and in the lakes and rivers myriads of wildfowl, including ducks the equal of our wanted canvasbacks. There are wild pigeons in the forests and a big bird that is a fair counterfeit of our wild turkey.

"The native Brazilians are not very keen on hunting themselves, but now and then one can be found to make up a camping party, and so plentiful in the game, both on the prairies and in the mountains, that it is always easy to get permission of a landowner for shooting over his estate."—Baltimore American.

UP-TO-DATE YOUTH

Stern Father—Willie, didn't you know it was wrong to steal?
Willie—Well, you was saying only yesterday dat you hoped I would grow up into a great man.

TOO SLOW TO LIVE.

Governor Dix, at a dinner in Albany, was congratulated on his veto of the milk bill. Of this bill, which would have permitted the lowering of the standard of milk purity, the governor said: "The bill would be a long step backward in the fight for pure milk, and he who can't see this must be as slow as Cornelius Husk of Quag. 'I always said old Corn Husk was slow,' said one Quag man to another. 'Why, what's he been doing now?' the other asked. 'Got himself run over by a horse!'"

A SLIGHT DOUBT.

"Of course, you believe in the wisdom of the plain people."
"Yes," replied Farmer Cornstossel; "although the way we talk about the trusts and the middleman does make me kind o' suspect that us plain people can't brag about the way we hold our own in business transactions."

THOUGHT HE WAS FIXING PIPE.

"Consulted a physician this morning and he advised me to give up my pipe."
"Give up your pipe, eh? What did he charge you for that?"
"Ten dollars. I guess he thought for the moment he was a plumber."

INDUCEMENT.

"Did dat man offer any inducements to git you to buy dat male?"
"Yass, indeed," replied Mr. Krastua Pinkley. "He give me his membership in a 'society dat pervides a han'some funeral for anybody dat belongs to it.'"

SIGNIFICANT.

"How long have they been married?"
"I don't know exactly, but when they go fishing she baits her own hook."

PLUMLEY'S BIG FISH STORY

Vermont Congressman Tells How He Recovered His Gold Watch and Double Eagle.

Fish stories are rife in May, and under the seductive influence of balmy spring new versions come to light of the same old stories we have heard since boyhood days. Congressman Plumley of Vermont, of portentously serious mien, asserted to a smiling group of colleagues that a couple of seasons ago he lost his watch and a $20 gold piece overboard while waiting by a placid pool for a bite. The next year, he declared under oath, he caught a fish in that self-same pool—a "gold fish," of course—and he found within the finny armor of that Vermont bass his watch, the $20 gold piece and 30 cents accrued interest.

Fish Commissioner Bowers insists that this is another result of his labors to propagate thrifty habits among gold fish. He says that the monetary question has been so much discussed in Washington that it has affected the spawn sent out through the country, and if these fish stories continue he will not be responsible for results. As the party broke up it was agreed that Congressman Plumley deserved the plum of the fish-story season.—Joo Thapple's News Letter.

LEAVING IT TO HIM

Willie—What yer goin' ter name the baby?
Lulu—Goin' ter let him grow up and make er name for himself.

SCOTLAND'S ADVANTAGE.

At Belfast a football match was played between Ireland and Scotland. One of the home supporters, who was getting excited, kept shouting out:

"Sit on 'em, Ireland!"
An old Scotchman in the crowd, unable to stand it any longer, cried out:
"Ye might be able to sit on the leek, mon, and mebbe on the rose, but I tell ye, mon, ye canna sit on the thistle."

MATTER OVER MIND.

Little Florence had a very bad toothache and was crying softly to herself. Her aunt, who was a believer in Christian Science, went over to the little girl and said:

"If you have any faith, dear, you would have no toothache."

Florence continued to sob, but between sobs she replied:
"Well, Aunt Grace, if you had my toothache, you wouldn't have any faith."—Judge.

PRUDENCE.

"Have you ever written your memoirs?" asked the enterprising publisher. "No," replied Senator Sorghum. "And I'm not going to write them. When a man interviews himself there is no chance for him to cover a mistake by saying he was misquoted."

WHAT SHE WANTED.

Lady in Shoe Store—These shoes pinch terribly. Haven't you anything larger?
Salesman—You asked for number two, madam. I can give you number three or number four, or—Lady—The idea! I want something large in number two.

CONSOLING THOUGHT.

He—Darling, I have lost my position.
She—Never mind, dear. Think of how small your salary was.

A PATIENT MAN.

"Do you make your wife an allowance?"
"I never cease making allowances for my wife."

HE WAS VERY MUCH ALIVE

Old Laborer in London, Mourned as Dead for Weeks, Returns to His Home.

An extraordinary case of mistaken identity, resulting in a tumbler man being mourned as dead, and an unknown stranger being buried in his stead, came to light the other day.

Several weeks ago Charles Herbert Skinner, an aged cab washer and laborer, sold up his home and went in search of work. His wife went into the workhouse. Three weeks later a man died in the Salvation Army shelter at Blackfriars road. He was "identified" as Skinner, and the body was buried in Streatham cemetery. Before the coffin was closed several members of Skinner's family satisfied themselves as to the identity, and took away the dead man's clothes. The "widow" then went to stay with friends. The other morning Skinner reappeared at Murphy street, where his sister-in-law lives, and, in this relative's own words, "frightened the life out of her." He told them he had tramped all round London, doing odd jobs. "I knew nothing of what had happened," he said, "but, having nothing to do this morning, I thought I would call and see how my wife was. I am very much alive."

"How did your baseball game come out?"
"They mugged the ground with us."
"I thought they would when I heard you calling them a scrub nine."

GOOD FIFTEENTH REMEDY.

Take green copers (not slackened) and burn on a stove lid until it becomes of a yellowish brown color and can be pulverized. Take one level teaspoonful, the same of burnt alum (the alum should be taken off the stove just before it stops boiling as it is then stronger.) Put the above in an earthen bowl with one teaspoonful of sulphur, one teaspoonful of white sugar, the same of boiling water; let cool; put in a tight bottle and shake before using.

Directions—In extreme cases give one-fourth teaspoon every hour; keep outside of throat cool to keep down fever. (Ice water with salt-peter in it is good for this purpose.) Change cloth every two or three minutes.

To prevent diphtheria—Give one teaspoonful twice a day for one week every two or three months. People, while exposed, should keep taking the above.

NO OCCASION FOR ALARM.

"Mercy!" ejaculated the woman who had just come aboard the train, "there's something moving around under my feet!"

"It's the southern extension of my dachshund, ma'am," spoke the passenger in the seat behind her. "I got him in here when the conductor wasn't looking. He's under these two seats."

HER DISCOURSE.

"My dear," mildly expostulated her husband, "I said only half a dozen words, and you have talked about them for forty-five minutes."
"Well," snipped Mrs. Vick-Senn, "the preacher does that sort of thing every Sunday morning, and you never kick about it."

WAY TO WIN.

Bronson—What's the best way to make love to a girl?
Dawson—The worst way possible. Then she'll think you mean it.—Puck.

SEEMED LIKE LUG'S SHADOW

Visitor in Arkansas Deceived by Spectral Appearance of the Shadow Quadruped.

"Yes," said the naturalist pilgrim the other day, "Arkansas certainly lives up to its reputation for lean and lanky creatures."

Last week I was riding along a dusty road, when I came to a cabin set in a clearing. A lean, lanky man sat out in front, smoking a corncob and gazing at invisible things. Two or three long-legged, skinny fowls pecked listlessly about the yard and occasionally a pig built like a pump-kin seed slid between the pickets and went under the fence to lie down in the shade.

"Out in the dusty road a lean, rickety dog walked around and around, bristles up, apparently growling at his shadow."

"I went in and got a drink of water. Looking back I saw the dog still going through his peculiar maneuvers."

"Say," I said to the native, "what's the matter with your dog—going mad?"

"The old man looked over that way."

"Don't see nothin' wrong with him," he said.

"But," says I, "look at him! He walks around and around, growling at his shadow."

"The native looked indifferently at a crawling grasshopper and lost interest again."

"Stranger," he said, "that ain't no shadow—that's another dog!"—New York American.

THE REAL THING

Turkey—Was his picture of the handicap true to life?
Railbird—So much so that even the colors ran.

WHEN NEW ENGLAND WALKED.

As to going anywhere in colonial days this generation can form slight conception of the difficulties of travel or of the strength of the travelers. Horses were not numerous and carriages were few indeed. To make a journey every one walked. The first stage between Boston and Portsmouth, N. H., was put on in 1761. It was drawn by two horses, carried three passengers, was two days going and two coming and made but one trip a week. One Mettling, a baker in Portsmouth at that period, used to walk the 66 miles to Boston in one day, buy his flour and ship it by a coaster to his home, and then walk back to Portsmouth the next day, according to Adams' history of Portsmouth. Mettling continued this practice until he was eighty years old.

ANSWER, YES.

When a New York reporter asked John D. Rockefeller, in New York the other day, if it were true that he was worth only $200,000,000, Mr. Rockefeller smiled and parried the question in his usual way.

"Be economical, young man," he said. "Work and save. Then you'll be richer some day than I am, maybe."

"Prosperity," Mr. Rockefeller continued—"prosperity is said to have ruined many a man. But, after all, my dear young friend, don't you think it must be pleasant to be ruined by prosperity than by adversity?"

NATURAL RESULT.

"What makes that young man over there look so seedy?"
"I guess it is because he's been sowing his wild oats."

HER HEIR.

"Mrs. Jinks gave a bald excuse for going home so early?"
"What was it?"
"Her baby."
